

Grace du Pont and Conor Sutherland are married

Opposite: The happy couple after the ceremony.

Top: The families outside Grace Episcopal Church in New York City.

Above Left: Mr. and Mrs. Conor Sutherland at the reception.

Above Right: The newlyweds share a private moment together at the reception at the Racquet & Tennis Club.

Grace Hayes Holcomb du Pont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont V (Jean A. Young) of Tarrytown, NY, was married on September 30, 2017, to Conor Jackson Sutherland, son of Mrs. Donald J. Sutherland (Denise Jackson) of Glen Cove, NY, and the late Mr. Sutherland. The ceremony took place at Grace Episcopal Church in New York, followed by a reception at the Racquet

& Tennis Club.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn P. Young (Jean Johnson) of Dobbs Ferry, NY, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont IV (Elise R. Wood) of Rockland, DE. Mr. du Pont IV was governor of Delaware from 1976 to 1984; the bride's great-grandfather Llewellyn Powers was governor of Maine from 1896 to 1900.

The groom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jackson (Audrey Keppel) of New York. He is also the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Conrad J. Sutherland (Lavinia Peters) of Plandome, NY.

Mrs. Sutherland attended Southfield School and Phillips Exeter Academy. She is a graduate of Princeton. Mr. Sutherland attended The Green Vale School and Phillips Academy Andover. He also graduated from Princeton, where the couple reconnected after meeting years earlier as teenagers in North Haven, ME.

The couple took a wedding trip to Rwanda, Zambia, and Mozambique, and reside in New York.

WHYMAN STUDIOS

WHYMAN STUDIOS